Configuring BitCurator to enable users to authenticate with Active Directory accounts

Scenario:

Yale University Library established a disk imaging service for archival materials where multiple users perform the disk imaging. The below instructions describe how to configure BitCurator installations to enable multiple user accounts and to enable users to authenticate with accounts that are managed by Active Directory.

Step-by-step guide

Related articles

- Creating a Disk Image Using Guymager
- Using Nautilus for Data Triage
- Configuring BitCurator to enable users to authenticate with Active Directory accounts
- Access and Export Files from Disk Images
- Find Potentially Sensitive Information with Bulk Extractor Viewer